DESCRIPTION

The word 'baking' conjures a warm and welcoming kitchen filled with the paraphernalia of making cakes, pies and breads, the room heady with wonderful aromas emanating from the stove. Puffed-up scones, golden sausage rolls, crusty loaves and dozens of other delights are the keen baker's rewards. And, if you are not a baker already, this book will make you so. More than 300 sweet and savoury baked goods from snacks to full-scale meals are included, many with step-by-step photos alongside. All the great classics that grandma used to make are here, plus more contemporary treats such as the ubiquitous cupcake in its many incarnations, friands and stylish slices. Techniques pages explain the basics of baking and the things that can go wrong – and how to avoid them. Don the apron, wield the wooden spoon and start baking.

KEY SELLING POINTS

- Features more than 300 classic and contemporary baking recipes, many with step-by-step images
- Includes a broad selection of recipes, ranging from sweet and savoury snacks to full-scale meals
- A user-friendly guide to baking that explains basic techniques and ways to get the best results

- A well-targeted and playful book with recipes presented in comic-strip style.

AUTHOR PROFILE

Keda Black learned to cook by eating with her grandmother, listening to her mother, following recipe books to the letter and taking courses in breadmaking and pâtisserie. Now she shares her own knowledge and advice in her books or in magazines. Her goal is to give her readers a repertoire of simple, versatile and varied dishes: lots of timeless classics, then little ideas picked up here and there – on her travels or in a restaurant. In all her books she explains her way of doing things, from cooking to serving, but taste always comes first!

DESCRIPTION

Almost from the moment of our birth, clothing acts as our second skin, yet we rarely consider where our clothes have come from and the effects they might have on the environment and ourselves. This heartfelt, practical and topical book is about easily achievable ways in which we can care for our planet by living simpler lives and using fewer resources, specifically those to do with cloth and clothing. Beautifully photographed and illustrated by the author, it presents information and inspiration on selecting, acquiring, wearing, caring for, making and repurposing textiles and clothing.

KEY SELLING POINTS

- Timely, positive and inspiring advice on how the individual can make a difference through their clothing choices in solving the problems of global warming, pollution and scarce resources.
- Full of sound, practical advice and information, with additional projects accompanied by detailed instructions and beautiful photography.
- The materials and tools used are easily found or made in the average home and garden.

All Day Long The Noise of Battle

An Australian attack in Vietnam

Gerard Windsor

DESCRIPTION

During the Tet Offensive in Vietnam in February 1968 an Australian infantry company assaulted a North Vietnamese bunker complex. In the longest sustained attack fought by Australians during the Vietnam War the soldiers went forward again and again over three days. Yet the battle passed without any notice in Australia at the time, and the men who fought it were further insulted by higher command's apparent failure to acknowledge what they had done. Above all, decorations for their bravery seemed pitifully meagre. What happened? Why did these men fall through the net of our historical memory?

In answering these questions Gerard Windsor brings up into relief so many of the individual soldiers who went into this battle. All Day Long the Noise of Battle is a book about the strengths and problems of this group of men, their alliances and tensions, their relaxations and misbehaviour, their morale, their internal tensions, their reactions to combat, their stand-out characters and their leaders. And throughout, All Day Long the Noise of Battle becomes an essay on the nature of men's memory of battle.

Gerard Windsor brings the eye of a writer of fiction to this episode of Australian heroism and tragedy. Full of memorable personalities and their stories, All Day Long the Noise of Battle is a ground-breaking and moving book.

KEY SELLING POINTS

- Includes contemporary photos of many of the men in this battle, bringing you closer to the people at the heart of the story
- Written with extensive research and input from fifty of the men in the Company, this is a very personal insight into the men and their story, in the context of the trials of the Vietnam War
- A highly factual, explosive contribution to the ongoing debate about recognition and fitting decorations for the men who fought in Vietnam

AUTHOR PROFILE

Gerard Windsor is one of Australia's most versatile and respected writers. His publications have included two novels, three collections of short stories and essays and three volumes of memoir. His most recent books have been the novel I Have Kissed Your Lips and a set of fifty comic biographies of famous Australians, Ned Kelly and the Odd Rellie. He won the Pascall Prize for Critical Writing in 2005, has appeared in either The Best Australian Short Stories or The Best Australian Essays most years since the series' inception in 1998, and is represented by his fiction in the Norton Anthology of Australian Literature. All Day Long the Noise of Battle is his first published work of history. He lives in Sydney.
